

Cooling cabinets

... are used in any kind of industry, in the laboratory or in the research to store and test products at a well defined temperature. Most of these cabinets have a heating and cooling system, so that the temperature range of  $-20$  and  $+120^{\circ}\text{C}$  can be reached.

evaporation cooling

cooling-cabinet 4,4 m<sup>3</sup>

One way to cool the interior is to use a conventional cooling cycle. Alternative methods are using the evaporation cooling. The appropriate measure is used to have an optimal integration into your application.

Info

Please discuss with us your requirements and the limits of your application so that we can offer the best and most adequate solution possible.

Please get in contact with us so we can discuss your application.